

TUESDAY THIS WEEK WILL BE PRIMARY DAY

Candidates for Congress and State and Local Offices Will Be Named.

INTEREST IS LACKING

Return to Convention Method Has Robbed Affair of General Appeal.

BATTLE IN WESTCHESTER

Opponents Seek to Oust Boss
Ward, but His Friends Are Confident.

Primary day, which comes this year on Tuesday, has been robbed of much of its interest and general appeal by the return to the State convention.

Candidates for Congress, the State Senate and Assembly and for local offices are still to be named in the primary, as are the delegates to the State conventions and representatives of the party organizations in the various committees.

The local offices for which nominations are to be made in the primary in New York city are:

New York County—Surrogate, for which Frank J. Coleman, Jr., is the Republican designee and John P.
Giffen, the Democrat, both unopposed.

Two Judges of the Court of General Sessions, for which Judges Morris S. Cohen and Robert S. Johnson are the Republican designees and Judge John J. Connelley, the Democrat, is the designee.

Justice of the Municipal Court, for which Morris D. Reis is the Republican designee and Lester Lazarus is the Democrat, both unopposed.

Albany, Fourteenth district, for which Frank Chagrin is the Republican designee and Jeremiah S. O'Leary is the Democrat.

Albany, District Attorney, for which John E. Runkin is the Republican designee and Frank J. Dodd, the Democrat, is the designee.

Albany, State Thirty-seventh District, Edward W. Wain, Republican, and Alderman J. K. Miller, Democrat, are the designees.

tion from H. Westlake Coons of Ellenville. The latter is supported by the Anti-Saloon League. This, like most all up-State congressional fights, is Republican.
In the district, which includes Albany county and most of Rensselaer county, the anti-Barnes faction have entered Milton J. Augsbury to run against Charles M. Winchester, the organization designee for Congress.

Thomas Alkin, former Mayor of Amsterdam, an independent, is running for the Congress from the Fulton Hamilton-Montgomery-Schenectady district in both primaries. In the Republican he is the opponent of Representative Frank Crowther and of George H.
Derry in the Democratic.

Fight in Thirty-seventh District.
Possibly the most interesting fight is that in the Thirty-seventh Congress district, where Representative Lewis Henry is being opposed by Milo Shanks, Gale Stalker and Frank C. Platt. The first three live in Elmira and the latter in Painted Post. The district comprises the counties of Chemung, Schuyler, Steuben, Tioga and Tompkins. Henry was elected at the special election in the spring to succeed, Alanson D. Houghton, who had been chosen Ambassador to Germany.

Henry was supported by the anti-Saloon League in the spring, but they are now pushing Stalker, who is also the prohibition candidate. Platt has the support of the Jesse Phillips faction in Steuben.

Prohibition also a figure also in the Thirty-eighth district, which includes the counties of Genesee, Livingston, Orleans, Wyoming and a small part of Monroe county. Representative Archie D. Sayers voted against the prohibition amendment and the "anti" are after his seal. They are supporting Clark Allis, of Ridgeway.

There are two candidates out against Representative E. Wallace Denny in the Forty-fifth district, which includes Niagara and a part of Erie county.
They are John H. Leggett, who was in the Assembly from 1901 to 1908, and John W. Blaker, present Assemblyman.

The Republican Senate contests up-State are:

Former Assemblyman Edward Bland against Senator Caleb H. Baumes in the Orange-Sullivan district; Daniel F.
Strobel, former boss of Herkimer county, against Senator T. Douglas Robinson in the Herkimer-Lewis-Fulton-Hamilton district; Frank C. Puro of Watertown, and W. B. Van Allen of Carthage, in the Jefferson-Oswego district; Henry M.
Bage, former Senator, and Thomas Francis Woods in the Albany district.

The latter is part of the fight against the Barnes machine. Sage being an old Barnes lieutenant.

Ward Fight Over Woman Justified.
The anti-Ward forces in Worcester are making their big attack against his candidate for Justice of the newly created Children's Court. She is Miss Ruth Taylor, director of the County Child Welfare Bureau. The opposition candidate is Arthur I. Strang of White Plains.

Both factions have endorsed County Judge William F. Bleakley for renomination.

For the other offices the opposing candidates (the organization candidate being named in each instance) are:
District Attorney, Frank Rowland of Yonkers and Joseph H. Easer of Mount Vernon; for County Clerk, Louis N. El-lered (renomination) of Mount Vernon and Harry M. Steele against R. W.
Cotton of Yonkers; for Commissioner of Public Welfare, V. Everett Macy of Scarboro and Niles Hopkins of Armonk; for Coroner, Dr. Frederick A. Snowden of Peekskill and Peter H. Haver of Yonkers; for State Senator Twenty-sixth district, Assemblyman Seabury C. Mas-tick of Pleasantville and William Gault of Yonkers; for the Assembly, First district, Assemblyman T. Charles Moore of Bronxville and Mrs. Mabel McKinley Rear of Yonkers; for Assembly, Fourth district, Assemblyman Russell B. Liver-more of Yonkers and William L. Spon-ders of Yonkers; for Assembly, Fifth district, Assemblyman George Blakely of Yonkers and William G. Vuelch of Yonkers.

Contents are being made in the Fourth and Fifth Assembly districts for delegates to the State and Judiciary conventions and in Yonkers generally for members of the county committees.

In Erie county, where William J. Conners, manager of Hearst's gubernatorial boom, is making a fight to take the Democratic organization away from William H. Fitzpatrick, an entire local ticket has been put up in addition to candidates for delegates to the State convention. In reality the effort is to control the delegates for Hearst, but it is admitted they pledged to former Mayor Louis Fuhrmann for Governor. Conners says he is sure of getting all except six of the thirty-eight delegates.

The other county where a fight is being made all along the line, inspired by an attempt to get control of the delegates for Mr. Hearst, is Albany. Patrick

H. McCabe, former boss, is battling with Edwin C. Corning, who retired him from the leadership some years ago. Reports are that McCabe has not met with much success.

Seek to Oust Pallace.
In Monroe county there is a fight for control of the organization, which does not directly involve the gubernatorial contest. The Lamb-Rippey-Page faction is trying to oust John Pallace, Jr., Collector of the Port, from control of the Democratic organization. The Hearst people feel that Pallace, if he wins, will be with them at Syracuse.

In the Second District of Steuben county the McGreevey faction is trying to down the organization headed by James A. Parsons, which is loyal to former Gov. Smith. McGreevey went over to Hearst in 1906.

Other Democratic fights are between the Hurly-Clary and the Traphagen faction, in Seneca, and the W. A. Manning and the E. S. Harris factions, in Saratoga.

In New York city primary ballots for the different parties are of the following colors: Republican, pink; Democratic, light green; Socialist, buff; Farmer-Labor, slate; Prohibition, salmon.

The Socialist and Farmer-Labor have the same candidates under a coalition into the American-Labor party. The Prohibitionists failed to file tickets in many districts.

About the only revolt in the Republican ranks in New York county is among the negroes, who follow the lead of John Royal, and some Italians in lower Manhattan. The negroes, who have what they call a coalition committee, have put up four members of their race as insurgent candidates. They are Louis A. Lavelle, a lawyer, against Representative M. C. Ansoorge, for Congress in the Twenty-first district; James T. Simpson against R. M. Bolden for the Assembly in the Nineteenth District; James J. Murphy in the Second district against Samuel Gribben for the Assembly.

There is a contest for one of the two Democratic nominations to the Court of General Sessions on the Democratic side in Manhattan. Edward Shannon Brogan, former Assistant District Attorney, has been putting up a hot fight on the ground that Democrats should vote for him rather than for Judge Morris Kossig.

The Republican endorsed by the Democrats. Word has gone out from Charles F. Murphy, it is said, to put the slate through.

Kings County Contests.
In Kings county the Congress contests are: On the Republican side, Thomas F. Peterson against Representative Lester D. Volk in the Tenth district, and on the Democratic side, C. J. McWilliams and John Kissel (Rep.) against George W. Lindsay in the Third; Clyde Carter against Loring M. Black, Jr., in the Fifth; Gerald Morrell against William E.
Cleary in the Eighth and Henry Boeck-man against D. J. O'Connell in the Ninth.
Representative Kissel, who is the present Republican member, is unopposed in the Republican primary.

The one Senate contest in Kings has been referred to. The Assembly contests are: On the Republican side, Arthur Arnow against Benjamin Sam-dow in the Sixth; on the Democratic side, J. C. Benvenuto (Republican) against Joseph R. Blake in the Fourteenth; Sydney G. Hartnett against James F. Kiernan in the Sixteenth; Helen Lee against John Lucy in the Second; and Gerald Dunne and Joseph L. McCarthy against Assemblyman J.
J. McLaughlin in the Fifteenth.

There are a number of leadership fights on both sides in Kings county.
It is said that John R. Crews, Assemblyman, has a chance to defeat R. L.
Giedhill for member of the Republican State Committee from the Sixth district.

So, friends of John C. Wendell say he has a good chance to defeat Charles S. Warburton for member of the Republican State Committee from the Ninth district.

Other contests for State Committee membership on the Republican side are: John O. Nelson against Marcus B.
Campbell in the Second; Peter B. Scanlon and John P. Fogarty against Antonio De Martin in the Third; Alfred T. Hobbie and Carmine Ancelone against John S. Gaylor in the Fourth; Merrick Nitely against George Owens in the Fourth; and William Rust against Jacob A. Livingston in the Twenty-second.

In the Democratic party in Kings leadership fights as expressed in contests for membership in the State Committee are: P. H. Larney against James J. Browne, in the First; Joseph McCarthy against Thomas J. Drennan, in the Fourth; Thomas Higgins against Timothy E. Griffin in the Twelfth; Assemblyman J. J. Wackerman against George W. Lindsay in the Thirteenth; J. J. Foley against Kenneth Sutherland in the Sixteenth and Michael Buckley against William F. Delaney in the Twentieth.

There are no contests for nomination in the Bronx, but Louis Jacobs is making a leadership fight against Alfred E.
Simonds, (Rep.), in the Third district.
There are two leadership fights, both on the Republican side, in Queens.
James Gordon is out for member of the State Committee against Sheriff John Wagner in the First district Edward J. Neary, insurgent, is trying to defeat R. Leslie Smith in the Second.
Richmond County has staged no fights, but John E. Bove, the Republican candidate for Borough President, has been for years an organization Democrat.

SUES FOR $1,000,000
IN OPEN SHOP FIGHT

CLEVELAND, Sept. 15.—Sue for $1,000,000 damages alleging "malicious and defamatory libel" was filed against officers and the governing board of the American Plan Association of Cleveland today by Fred L. Baumgartner, secretary of the local International Molders Union of North America.

The "war game," which was played hereabouts until the players went away to a real war, is to be revived at Mitchel Field, Mineola, for ten days beginning next Wednesday. Members of the Officers' Reserve Corps in the territory between Boston and Wilmington, Del., have been invited to climb into khaki and participate. The artillery, air service, engineers and coast artillery will engage in joint maneuvers.

For the first time artillery fire will be directed from airplanes, not by wireless but by signals supplied by the movements of the planes. A side slip to the right will mean that a shell has landed too far to the right, a forward slip that it has landed too far ahead, and so on. This is a new system devised by Major Julius W. Jones of the Air Service. It is credited with having overcome the difficulties of signaling accurately by wireless when many planes are in the air and interfering electrically with one another.

Only Four Branches to Join.
Each member of the Officers' Reserve Corps is supposed to be called to duty for two weeks every year. The Government couldn't finance a turnout of the whole corps this year, but the four branches already mentioned have decided to combine in a demonstration.
Men who can't get away for the entire ten days will be able to go for three days—one day at a time if they desire.

The Sixth Field Artillery, which fired the first shots for the A. E. F. in France, will take part. Artillery positions will be disguised by the Camouflage post of the American Legion under Major Ay-mer Embury 2d and Capt. Homer St.
Gaudin.

The Sixty-second Anti-aircraft Ballery will bombard the planes with blank shells. Army observers and photographers will be aboard the planes and any reserve officer will be permitted to ascend. On the first day the army will dig in and reconnoiter, as if they were troops moved to a new position in real warfare. The public is invited to go to Mitchel Field and watch the show.

Major William R. McCleary, Coast Artillery Corps, said yesterday that officers planning to go to Mitchel Field should notify Major Walter Weaver, Air Service, commandant at the field, by letter or telephone at least twenty-four hours in advance.

FERRING GOING TO SYRACUSE.
Gen. Ferring has accepted an invitation by the American Legion to attend the reunion and convention to be held in Syracuse on September 21, 22 and 23.
The General will be accompanied by his staff.
